Amoxicillin 500mg During Early Pregnancy

S&P 500 index snapped a five-day losing streak after the Labor Department said the number of Americans working part-time for economic reasons fell in June. The index closed up 0.6% at 5,036.89.

The Labor Department said the number of people working part-time for economic reasons fell to 4.7 million last month, down from 5.1 million in May. Economists had expected numbers to remain at 5.1 million.

The Labor Department also said the unemployment rate fell to 7.5% in June, the lowest level since October 2009. Economists had expected the rate to remain at 7.6%.

The unemployment rate had fallen to 7.6% in May from 7.6% in April.

The number of people employed rose by 112,000 in June, after a revision to the May figure showed the increase was 25,000 smaller than previously estimated.

The number of people employed for less than 30 hours a week fell to 7.4 million from 7.7 million in May.

The employment-population ratio, which measures the proportion of the working-age population that has a job, edged up to 58.2% from 58.1% in May.